

A MONKEY AND A SONG

"Sing a song, Little Bird," asks a princess looking at Little Bird in the bushes.

"Oh, I can't. I have lost all my songs. I have lost my voice," Little Bird says sadly.

"It's a pity. Spring is much better, when you sing your beautiful songs."

"I know how to help you, Little Bird," says a funny brown monkey looking out of the bushes. "Fly to the lake in the heart of the forest and drink some water.

It can help you."

"Listen, what a wonderful song!" says the King to the princess next morning. "Now I see spring is the best season in my land. I love these songs very, very much!"

"We must say thanks to a little funny monkey, who lives in your garden," the princess answers.

"But darling, monkeys cannot sing!" the King says.

Read and retell the story.
Прочти и перескажи сказку.

- ? Who sings in the King's garden?
Who has lost its voice?
How does a funny brown monkey help to Little Bird?
What season is the best for the King?